

Supporting Public Utility Commissions Today for a Brighter Future Tomorrow

RMI is an independent, non-partisan nonprofit that works to accelerate the clean energy transition. We bring decision makers together to catalyze change at the scale needed to solve the climate crisis, in ways that create a prosperous future for all. Public Utility Commissions (PUCs) are key collaborators in this work.

WE ARE expert facilitators
policy advisors
technical analysts trusted partners

RMI has resources at the ready on a wide range of pressing issues that include:

Emerging solutions to integrate large loads, e.g. forecasting and tariff practices

Grid efficiency strategies including virtual power plants (VPPs) and grid-enhancing technologies (GETs)

Planning, including integrated resource planning, distribution system planning, and transmission planning

Electric vehicles and related infrastructure

All-source procurement for economic and efficient decarbonization

Affordability and customer safeguards

Regulatory strategies to support cost control, including performance-based regulation, fuel cost sharing, and more

Regulatory process design and stakeholder engagement

For additional resources or inquiries:

Rachel Gold, Principal rgold@rmi.org Cara Goldenberg, Principal cgoldenberg@rmi.org Joseph Daniel, Principal jdaniel@rmi.org

RMI services are data-driven and based in systems thinking.

We provide forward-looking technical assistance to cut through the complexity of our 21st-century energy systems. This level of support opens up avenues for PUC modernization, process design, decarbonization pathways, and more.

PUC Resources

We produce techno-financial modeling that is:

- granular enough to integrate a wide range of incentives and investment structures
- broad enough to include portfolios of resources across geographic regions
- powerful enough to conduct cost allocation and bill impact analysis.

Financial Modeling
with Optimus

We bring together peer networks for commissioners and staff that offer a winning combination of expert insights and a safe space to collaborate with other commissions.

Check Out Reg Lab

We offer transparent and rigorous analysis that never hedges or bends to the interests of particular stakeholders. Our work's strength is based on a commitment to independence and positive outcomes based in fact.

We engage at every level, from a quick email to provide general insights, to a fast-response memo on a specific question, to multiyear consultations. We are happy to tailor our services to best meet your needs.

Our Clients:

For additional resources or inquiries:

Rachel Gold, Principal rgold@rmi.org Cara Goldenberg, Principal cgoldenberg@rmi.org Joseph Daniel, Principal jdaniel@rmi.org

